WE NOMINATE

Robert Rankin, a short-term Princetonian, who over the past year has succeeded in placing on a firm footing a unique, Princeton-headquartered fellowship program which was inaugurated for the purpose of searching out and developing "new talent" for the Protestant ministry. Supported under a pledge of up to $100,000 a year for an experimental three-year period by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund and administered through the American Association of The Theological Schools Fund, this newest of all "Princeton institutions" has in its first year of operation conferred one-year fellowships upon 47 young Americans and Canadians, representing 15 different religious denominations and the successful nominees among the 332 men and women selected by educators and clergymen throughout the United States and Canada.

Like the National Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program, brought into being here in 1945, the Rockefeller Brothers Fellowship Program is an out-and-out recruitment venture, based on the premise that "in recent years no church has been attracting as much first-rate ability into its ministerial ranks as it could profitably use." To the 39-year old Rankin, on leave for the current academic year from his duties as Chaplain of the Associated Colleges, Claremont, Calif., fell the job of acquainting American and Canadian colleges and universities with a program that invites especially talented college seniors and recent college graduates to devote a year to theological study so that they may explore the possibilities of entering the Christian ministry.

Working under a distinguished board of directors, headed by Harvard's Nathan M. Pusey and including such men as Seminary president John A. Mackay, banker Thomas S. Lamont, classicist Whitney J. Oates and attorney Charles A. Taft, Rankin this year visited some 60 campuses, interpreted the program's aims for over 450 faculty representatives and corresponded with students, faculty members and clergymen in more than 400 institutions. The enthusiastic response to his efforts, Rankin points out, "gave me pause, if not downright professional discomfort, for it conveyed the blunt judgment that the clergy needed not only an increase in numbers but a radical improvement in quality!"

Rankin, a Methodist minister, who was graduated from the State University of Iowa in 1937, took his advanced degrees at Yale and later served as an Air Force Chaplain, emphasizes that there is no element of compulsion in the Rockefeller Brothers Program. The winners of the awards at the end of their year at theological schools of their own choosing will decide for themselves whether or not they wish to continue their preparation for the ministry. Regardless of what career they ultimately elect, the program's directors believe that the fellows' experience will contribute to the religious strength of the country.

For gaining support from all quarters for a program dedicated to providing greater leadership in the Nation's churches; for seeking new ways of giving more college students a better insight into the nature of the theological task and the mission of the church; for insisting that there are enough "untapped" young people in our colleges to change the "major shortage" in the churches to a minor one; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Bloodline. A heart-warming story of the length to which Princetonians will go to provide free blood for a fellow citizen is now being written as William Bradley lies for the second week in New York's Memorial Hospital, a victim of chronic leukemia.

Gordon Griffin told the Princeton Lions Club of the urgent need for blood for Mr. Bradley, a past member. Lions Frank Shelton, Martin Mains, William Kiefer,
William Schneeweiss and Ross
Alger volunteered to donate blood, and were joined by Paul C. Alford, Jr., Malcolm Roszel,
Howard E. Young and Fred Mer-shon.

Mr. Shelton and Mr. Mains, club president, drove the group to New York last Thursday. The results of their gifts of the life-saving fluid (nine pints equal $225

Who's Right?

There's an old saying that "figures don't lie" but a lot of Princetonians are saying they do when it comes to April's weather statistics. Having lived through 30 days of what seemed an interminably cold, late, wet spring, it takes more than statistics to prove to them that the past month was (1) below normal in rainfall and
(2) warmer than usual.

Facts are, however, that total precipitation was four-fifths of an inch less than the average of about three and one-fifth inches for the month and temperatures totalled 104 degrees higher than is standard for the 30-day period. Long-range forecasts for May see temperatures about normal, with rainfall an inch or more below typical figures for the month.

for blood) are shown in encouraging reports that Mr. Bradley is clearly improved.

More transfusions will still be needed to combat the dangerous infection of the blood stream and a trip was scheduled this Thursday by Raymond A. Bowers.
Those who can join trips to New York to give blood are being asked to contact Mr. Mains or Mrs.
Chapter.

Mr. Bradley and his wife and 14-year-old son live at 289 Western Way. He is a sales engineer with L. C. Bowers and Sons, Princeton construction firm, and prior to joining the Bowers company was employed at the Institute for Advanced Study.

Salk Still a Question. Princeton has received no word as yet when the Salk vaccine will arrive for inoculation of first and second graders in this area, borough and township health officers report.
Dr. William Kleinberg of the Township said that he is expecting at least a week's notice from state authorities.

Because of reports that New Jersey will be able to begin free inoculation Monday, David T.
Blake, Borough Health Officer, said he hopes to receive the drug by the end of this week. He has not, however, been notified when to expect the vaccine by Dr.
Daniel Bergsma, State Commissioner of Health.

Dr. Kleinberg estimated that it would probably be "another two or three weeks" before the Township would be able to begin its inoculation. This is because he was informed that he would receive at least a week's notice before the Salk vaccine arrived.

Miss Beatrice Bedard, Borough School Nurse, reported that four of the 213 requests for the Salk vaccine filed by parents of first and second graders have been withdrawn apparently as a result of the recent distribution of faulty vaccine. Dr. Kleinberg said that only one township parent had withdrawn consent.

Einstein Will Be Revealed. Contents of the last will and testament of the late Dr. Albert Einstein were disclosed Friday with four relatives and the scientist's secretary-housekeeper named as chief heirs. Dr. Otto Nathan, Professor of Economics at New York University and executor of the estate, and David J. Levy, New York lawyer and attorney for the estate, made known the contents at a press conference at the Institute for Advanced Study.

Legacies of $20,000 each were left to Dr. Einstein's stepdaughter, Margot, and secretary, Miss Helene Dukas. The household furniture and effects were bequeathed to the stepdaughter, while the physicist's books and other personal effects will go to Miss Dukas.

A $15,000 legacy was left to Professor Einstein's son Edward, 45, now living in Switzerland. An older son, Hans Albert, 51, Professor of Mechanical Engineering at the University of California at Berkeley, Calif., will receive a legacy of $10,000.

Dr. Einstein's violin will go to his grandson, Bernhard, 25, son of Hans Albert now studying in

"Merwick" to Be Open
From 1 to 5 on Sunday, May 15, residents of the Princeton area may tour "Merwick," spacious home on Bayard Lane of the late Bishop and Mrs. Paul Matthews. Now the property of Princeton Hospital, it is scheduled for renovations that will design it as the only nursing home of its kind in New Jersey.

Once the first residential building of Princeton University's Graduate School, "Merwick" and its nine-acre estate will be shown to the public through guided tours as the highlight of Princeton's observance of National Hospital Day. They will be conducted by the hospital's Woman's Auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. Wendell L. Carlson.

Switzerland. A trust fund of $10,000 was established by the will for the scientist's sister, but this sum will revert back to the estate because of her death since the document was drawn up.

The will also contained a direction that the "literary property and rights," including copyrights and royalties, are to be held in trust for the benefit of Miss Dukas and Dr. Einstein's stepdaughter. The remaining amounts of the fund will pass to the Hebrew University in Israel at their death.

One Man to Another. Magistrate Louis R. Gerber of Princeton Township this week found Magistrate Raymond Britton of West Windsor Township guilty of careless driving. The charge resulted from an accident with an Army truck from Fort Dix in which Mr. Britton was involved last month.

Mr. Britton cross-examined the Army sergeant during the trial, and was cautioned by Mr. Gerber "not to argue with the witness." He contended that the driver had not made the proper signal before taking a left turn. Mr. Gerber felt otherwise, found Mr. Britton guilty but suspended sentence.

Court Action. Four motorists were fined on Tuesday by Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro for passing red traffic signals, each paying $5. They were Henry W. Bruck, 400-C Butler Avenue; Miss Jeanette Rockafellow, Cherry Hill Road; Mrs. Mary Hitti, 106 Fitz-Randolph Road; and Mrs. Rita Goodheart, 175 Prospect Street.

Others fined were Mrs. Tiffin Harper, 108 Mercer Street, failing to renew her registration, $3; Frank DiMeglio, 82 Leigh Avenue, improper passing, $8; Mrs. R. Helen N. Bush, 391 Nassau Street, improper turn, $8; and Mrs. Evelyn V. Olsen, River Road, Belle Mead, passing a stop sign, $4.

It's New to Us

Roll the Red Carpet. Thirteen different carpet manufacturers present their products to the Rug Mart on the Somerville Road, and in the interests of more complete display, the Mart now has a Carpet Selector that holds 500 samples from all 13 companies.

Selector—designed by Lees, but tolerant of other manufacturers as well—dominates the south wall of the room, modeled Rug Mart show-rooms. It's 50 feet long, 10 feet high and brilliantly lighted from above. It holds on its three tiers, fat little rolls of sample carpeting in florals, stripes, twists, solid colors. Oriental styles, sculptured modern designs and probably more at the end of that long row, than we forgot binoculars. The Lees people have told the Rug Mart that this is the largest Selector in the country, so make it a point to stop by for a look.

On the furniture side, the door is open wide onto your terrace. Here's the circle chair in rattan, done this summer with wrighton rockers. Its cousin is a canvas chair in yellow, orange or green, to make polka dots of color on your patio. The frame is black wrought iron, the price is $12.95.

For the 1955 campaign, buy a complete chair with canvas sling piped in black. The colors are orange or yellow and the piping accents the black wrought iron in a pleasant manner. A linen-like plastic in a natural shade provides the seat and back for a straight chair, and the covering for a chaise pad. Looks to be water-proof, weather-proof, and all that kind of thing.

The straight chair is $18, the lounge is $36. You'll be tempted by a sleazy looking canvas hammock on metal stand for $24.50. You provide the shade.

Pink and Plaid. Somehow we still have not shaken down to the idea of baby pink for man, so we shall describe quickly the pinks on display at Princeton Clothing, 17 Witherspoon, and then pass on to other shades.

First there is a pale pink handkerchief, a charcoal piped with pink and a white with fine narrow pink edging. Then we come to a visored golf cap, and of course several sports shirts, most of them in pink and charcoal plaids.

There are even more tartans than there are pinks; a wind-breaker, for example, in Black Watch or the red and green of MacKenzie. It has front zipper, two slot pockets, and buttoned wrist cuffs. The fabric is water-repellent. Casual and lovely in the washable. Swimming trunks match at $3.95. The jacket is $10.50.

Formal wear consists of plaid suspenders, belts, cummerbunds, and so on. There are also plaid shirts, but we didn't see any pink ones.

There's a tie for every shirt. Palm Beach ties come in soft ice-cream shades, with the small centered patterns that are finding customers these days. We liked a pale grey with small red and black designs, and a white tie with navy blue light blue. The price on these is $1.50.

Dacron appears at Princeton Clothing in company with cotton. The suit is $28.50 in blues and tans, hand-washable, with sturdy lapped seams. A wash-and-wear shirt of dacron and cotton costs $6.50 in button-down style. There are also dacron and wool slacks, plain or pleated, from $14.95, and dacron suits blended with rayon, acetate or wool and going up in price from $35, depending on the companion fabric.

Quick, the Needle. . . before warm weather really comes and you find yourself without a cotton to hang in your closet. The Fabric Shop at 6 Chambers has a row of cotton plaids, including two new ones by Dan River: a black and white with fine red line, and a deep teal blue with black.

A fine broadcloth has been black printed to look like tie silk, and treated so that it needs no ironing. Neither does seersucker, of course, and the ones here are striped in red, grey, or brown for 79c a yard.

In denim — and you can't go through a summer without denim — there is orange, green, yellow, and khaki. Trim it with checked, striped or plaid bias tape. You get three yards for a dime.

Make a summer sheath of bengaline with matching jacket. Colors are navy, red, black, blue or champagne at $14.94 a yard. Then, for a fluffier kind of party dress, there's 45-inch nylon in a variety of designs. One is a sculptured print, another is a flopped polka-dot, others are solid shades, one is a silvery collection of dusty pink leaves with silver.

For summer decorating, The Fabric Shop suggests a provincial medallion print in light-weight sailcloth. They have it in washable red, brown, green, yellow low or white for $1 a 36-inch yard.

The Mimosa and the Daisy. These exquisite laminated place mats at The Town Shop now include some that look like spring itself. One is a new oval shape with a few delicate field flowers, and one captured butterfly.

Another shows a grouping of daisies and mimosa, while a third has a composition based on sweet peas. These lovely mats, priced from $2.75, would make a memorable Mother's Day gift. —Continued on Page 28

Township Vote June 7

Township taxpayers will be asked to vote on a bond issue for the proposed new Littlebrook School on June 7, according to the board of education's legal notices concerning absentee ballots. Further word on the bond issue, including the estimated costs, is expected to develop from next Thursday's meeting of the board.

Facts that will guide the board in decisions on Littlebrook and for the future will be gathered this Saturday in the Township's "School Census Day." The PTA's house-to-house survey will provide current figures on school-age and pre-school children in the municipality, as well as an indication of population trends.

Serving with Mrs. Mortimer Feldman, census chairman, are these district captains: Mrs. Robert D. Sinkler, Mrs. Norman J. Anderson, Mrs. Herbert Hobler, Mrs. Gordon Turner, Olin Mitchell, Mrs. Bernard Cohen, Mrs. Thomas Stix, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Margaret Bradley and Mrs. John Marek.

belong to him. Police Chief John H. Smith said that Braxton Ellerbe, 45, of 110 Witherspoon Street had confessed his original report was untrue.

Ellerbe had agreed to take a State Police-supervised lie detector test when the validity of his story was questioned. The test showed that his original statements were untrue, according to Chief Smith, and Ellerbe then revealed that his whole tale was a hoax. The funds he reported stolen had represented rental receipts he had collected from the Clay Street Housing Project amounting to $581.

He originally told police he had been attacked in a Jackson Street parking yard while on his way to the bank to deposit the money. He had a severely cut head and spent two days in Princeton Hospital while recuperating. After thorough police investigation which culminated with the lie detector test, Ellerbe's confession amounted to this revelation:

After "having a few drinks" in a Leigh Avenue tavern, he went back to the Housing Authority's Office in the Clay Street project, got the rent receipts and returned to the tavern. He admitted he became intoxicated and when he awoke at home the next day, could find only a $10 bill. In addition to the Housing Authority's funds, he reported losing approximately $130 of his own.

The following day, according to Chief Smith, Ellerbe was planning to report the loss to Housing Authority officials. Shortly before starting to see them he adjusted the furnace in the Clay Street project office and in straightening up, cut his head severely on the door. It was then that the idea of having been attacked and robbed came to him.

He then reportedly drove to the Jackson Street lot, rolled out of his car, lying near it until a passerby saw him. Patrolman Robert Anderson took him to Princeton Hospital. Chief Smith said that Ellerbe has promised to make full restitution of the funds to the Housing Authority. Police will charge him with falsification of a crime.

Lions Nominate. The Lions Club will carry over its nomination meeting until Tuesday's regular session in order to receive additional nominations from the floor.

Campaign Against Sclerosis. Money for research and the establishment of local clinics is the aim of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, which in the last four years has taken many steps towards finding a relief and cure for this severe and crippling disease of the nervous system.

Multiple Sclerosis has affected over 200,000 Americans and yet very little is known of its cause and various methods are used to attempt treatment. Still, as was shown in the concentrated attack on polio which resulted in the Salk vaccine, it is not unreasonable to hope within a few years this disease, too, will be conquered.

It is hoped now to raise large sums of money for research into multiple sclerosis. The Princeton area is served by the Central New Jersey Chapter in Trenton which covers Mercer, Burlington, Hunterdon and Middlesex Counties. Princeton citizens playing a leading role in organizing this chapter are Dr. DeWitt Smith, Ralph Mason and Dr. Milton White. The fund raising campaign will be under the direction of Minot Morgan Jr., with Charles T. Cowenhoven in charge of special gifts.

Water Show. Plans for Princeton's first big water spectacle are nearing completion. The event, to be staged Thursday, May 12, at 8:30 in the Princeton University pool, will be based on a centennial theme in honor of the 100th birthday of the Y.W.C.A. It will show through costumes and water formations the growth and expansion of the Y.W.C.A.'s facilities since 1855.

The continuity for the events will be announced by Gordon Howes, safety service director of the Trenton Chapter of the American Red Cross. There will be a number of humorous and lively numbers, synchronized swimming, and two scenes done with back light in which the costumes of the swimmers will glow in the dark. All features of the show will be costumed and scenery will be used as a background.

The committee has announced the crowning of "Miss Centennial" and selection of her Court of Honor as a special feature of the celebration. To be eligible for the title of "Miss Centennial", the ticket-holder must be a YWCA member in good standing, over 12 years of age, and must deposit before the opening of the aquacade the numbered portion of her ticket in the window of the YWCA on Nassau Street. "22 Years of 'Money-Back' Satisfaction" drawing will take place at the beginning of the water show, and the queen will be crowned by a well-known Princetonian.

The aquacade, staged by the Synchronized Swim Clubs of the "Trenton" Y.W.C.A., will include numbers by three groups of synchronized swimmers, the Aquabelles, the Minnows (ages 7-15 years) and the Doll-Diverettes. Miss Ruth Horst of the Trenton Y.W.C.A. directs the water show, and Miss Barbara McGee of the Aquabelles. The entire swimming activity in the program is under the direction of Mrs. Gordon Johnst, director of Physical Education at the Trenton Y.W.C.A.

Proceeds from the show are to be sent as a part of Princeton's share in the $5,000,000 Centennial Fund raised by the Y.W.C.A. as capital funds for national and international work during the year-long celebration of its 100th birthday. Chairmen here for the Centennial Fund are Mrs. Julian Bonfante and Mrs. Simon Moss, Sr.

At the close of the Aquacade, all spectators are invited to a reception in the Dillon Gymnasium to meet the guests, the Y.W.C.A. Board members and "Miss Centennial" and her court. Mrs. Paul Cheschro is general chairman of the reception. Tickets for the show are limited to the capacity of the University Pool and may be purchased in advance at Hixson's, the Princeton University Store, and at both branches of the Y.W.C.A.

The entire celebration is under the direction of Mrs. Simon Moss, Sr., chairman; Miss Esther Todd, executive director; and Miss Ann Frances Higgs, Y-Teen program director. Among those assisting are: Mrs. E. Harris Harrison, arrangements; Mrs. James K. Quay, Mrs. Carl E. Brown, Mrs. T. Cuyler Young and Mrs. William R. Brearly, patrons; Mrs. George F. Thomas, publicity; Mrs. Edwin W. Hall, posters; Mrs. Bruce W. Metzger, Mrs. Eddie Ray, Mrs. Worthon, F. Byrd and Miss Margaret Kahny, hospitality; Mrs. Charles W. Link, Mrs. John W. Johnson, Mrs. Howard B. Waxwood, Sr., Mrs. Arthur F. Buddington, Mrs. R.

BLUE CROSS TRUSTEE: John W. Kauffman, Administrator of Princeton Hospital, has been elected a trustee of the Hospital Service Plan of New Jersey (Blue Cross). Mr. Kauffman is president-elect of the New Jersey Hospital Association and active in other hospital organizations.

A. Braden, Mrs. John Cristellito, Mrs. Joel E. Nystrom, Mrs. Charlie Potter and Mrs. Howard B. Waxwood, Jr., hostesses.

Wellesley Bazaar. Fire engine and pony rides, games, fish pond, puppet and magic shows will be the main attractions for children at the Wellesley Bazaar. It will be held at Mrs. Fine's School Saturday, May 14, from 11 to 5. Other features will be tables of gifts, annual and perennial plants and baked goods. The well-known Inverurie Shetland sweaters will be back, with an added new item of waterproof shorts. A lunch bar will provide sandwiches; hot dogs, drinks and ice cream throughout the day.

Citation to Woodbridge. A citation for meritorious service to the YMCA of Princeton was presented to John P. Woodbridge, who served as general chairman of the joint YM-YW Building Fund Campaign, at the organization's annual meeting.

Dr. Charles R. Erdman Sr. presented the citation which singled out Mr. Woodbridge for his "dynamic leadership" in helping make the new building a reality.

The Rev. Ernest Gordon gave the principal address, while Kenneth B. Hawthorne formally opened the membership invitation which will be carried on this month. Reports on the YM program of last year were given by Raymond F. Hale, treasurer for the dinner, Douglas Rohrer, Herbert W. Hohler and Leslie Burns.

Directors elected were Raymond A. Bowers, Manning R. Brown, Jr., Elmer E. Chase, the Rev. David Crawford, Warren P. Elmer, Jr., Mr. Holter, David S. Lloyd, Jr., the Rev. Charles W. Marker, Leonard B. Newton, Jack K. Rindasover, Dora C. Schoch and Daniel F. Sullivan. The slate was presented by John T. McLoughlin.

Successful Show. More than 100 attended the benefit dog show given Tuesday afternoon by Gretchen Southard, Anne Guerlac and Susan Lillie at the Southard home, 170 Prospect Avenue. Entry fees in the show and other contributions netted more than $80 for the Cancer Society.

The 33 dogs entered were divided into five classes. Winners were Melissa Tomlinson, dachshund class; Sandy Garner, cocker; Susan Talbot, poodle; Nancy Carey, miscellaneous (with her Sheltie); and Anne Guerlac, puppy class, with a French poodle. Sandy Garner's cocker was judged best-of-show, winning a trophy from Nancy Carey's Sheltie the runner-up.

Business Women to Meet. The regular May meeting of the Princeton Business and Professional Women's Club will be held at Ayalon, Bayard Lane, Monday at 8 p.m. A summary of the year's progress and the election of officers for the coming 12 months will be the main order of business.

Plans are now being made for delegates and members to attend the convention of the New Jersey Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Atlantic City May 20-22. Mrs. Myrtle Hensor, president of the club, is also third vice-president of the New Jersey Federation. A social hour under the direction of Mrs. Mary Reed, Miss Beatrice Bowen and Mrs. Adelia Benham will follow the business meeting.

UJA Under Way. The 1955 United Jewish Appeal in Princeton was launched by a campaign dinner at which Mrs. Ada Sereni, a leader of immigration into Israel, was the guest speaker.

There will be no general public solicitation in Princeton, but contributions are invited and may be sent to Princeton UJA, P. O. Box 385. Rubin Schwartzstein is serving as general chairman for the drive.

The women's division will hold a tea next Wednesday at 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bernard Haines, 175 Elm Road. John Graul, New England church leader who helped champion the establishment of Israel as an executive director of the American Christian Palestine Committee, will be the guest speaker.

Members of the women's division committee under Mrs. James W. Schartz, Mrs. Haines, Mrs. Seymour Bogdonoff, Mrs. Murray Ahelson, Mrs. Schwartzstein, Mrs. William Abrams, Mrs. Al-

Wicks has been treasurer here for the past years, was founded nearly 70 years ago by two public-spirited Jersey citizens, Mr. and Mrs. derick Burnham. One of the greatest merits in program is the status it is to give individual boys because of its limited population of

150. Youngsters are sent by Children's Courts or Welfare Agencies to the Berkshire Farm, where they may find relief and new strength. The Farm has been a haven to more than 3500 boys in trouble, many from New Jersey. A large part of Berkshire Farm's support must come from voluntary contributions, which may be sent to Rev. Dr. Minot C. Morgan at 47 Hawthorne Avenue.

With Dr. Morgan on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Erdman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Lindabury, Mrs. Bevis Longstreth, Mr. and Mrs. David H. McAlpin, Mrs. W. H. York, Prof. William K. News of the Churches

Dean Aldrich Resigns. Dr. Donald B. Aldrich, Dean of the Princeton University Chapel, has submitted his resignation effective July 1 after eight years in the post. In doing so Dean Aldrich said he believed he had served a proper length of time for him in this field and that he wished to return "to a more traditionally pastoral ministry."

The retiring dean was called to the University Chapel to succeed Dr. Robert R. Wicks, first incumbent of the post, who had held it for 19 years. In doing so, Dean Aldrich resigned as a University trustee, having served on the board since 1928.

A graduate of Dartmouth and Episcopal Theological Seminary in Cambridge, he served in World War I as an enlisted man before receiving a commission and in World War II, as a lieutenant-commander, was assistant to the Fleet Chaplain on Admiral Chester Nimitz's staff. In 1944 he was elected Bishop Coadjutor of Michigan, but declined the post because of Navy orders to duty in the Pacific. Unanimously elected a second time the following year, he served as Bishop through September 1946, when he resigned on the advice of his physician.

Toner to be Ordained. At an impressive ceremony to be held this Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in All Saints Chapel of Trinity Cathedral, Trenton, the Rev. Richard K. Toner will be advanced to the sacred priesthood. Holy Orders will be administered by the Rt. Rev. Alfred Lothian Bunyard, newly elected Bishop of the Diocese of New Jersey.

Dr. Toner is an associate professor in the department of chemical engineering at Princeton, and a consultant with the Textile Research Institute. He began his study for the ministry in 1951 as a special student at the General Theological Seminary in New York, and as a private student under tutors.

In October, 1954 he was ordained and has since been serving as Deacon Associate at Trinity Church. Following his advancement to the priesthood, he will be assigned as Priest Associate to Trinity. Dr. Toner will continue his work at the University, and will exercise his ministry locally, in nearby missions, and among Episcopal students at Princeton. At the hour-long ceremonies on Saturday, a choir of priests will sing the liturgical music, and five clergymen will participate in the service. The Presenter will be Dr. John V. Butler, Rector of Trinity; the Epistoler will be the Rev. H. Martin P. Davidson, also of Trinity; the Gospeller is to be the Ven. Gerald R. Minchin, Archdeacon of the Diocese of New Jersey; the Preacher will be the Rev. Robert D. Smith, Canon of Trinity Cathedral, and the Litanist will be the Rev. William A. Eddy, Jr., Chaplain of the Proctor Foundation, Princeton.

Calvary Buys Land. Princeton's newest church, the Calvary Baptist, whose members joined as a congregation a scant three months ago, announced this week the purchase of more than an acre of land for the construction of a church.

The property lies on the southwest corner of Houghton Avenue and Walnut Lane. No immediate plans have been made, and church representatives say that actual construction will be some time in the future.

Installation services for the Rev. James H. Middleton will be held in the Chapel of Westminster Choir College next Friday, May 13 at 8 p.m. The Rev. Mr. Middleton's father, Dr. George Middleton, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Rochester, New York, will preach the installation sermon, and two of the Rev. Mr. Middleton's brother will also participate in the services.

Dr. Harold Stoddard will preside, and Dr. Kenneth Maxwell will offer the prayer. Dr. Stoddard and Dr. Maxwell served as interim pastors before the arrival of the Rev. Mr. Middleton. Dr. Charles R. Erdman will give the charge to the church, Dr. William L. Tucker, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church will bring greetings from local churches, and the Rev. Dr. William T. Parker of the First Baptist Church will pronounce the benediction. A reception at the Choir College will follow the service.

Baptists to Meet Here. Members of the Joint Commission of the two New Jersey State Baptist Convention will meet in Princeton at the First Baptist Church on John Street this Thursday for all-day conferences. Baptist ministers from both white and colored conventions are elected to this Commission on the basis of their interest in social and racial problems and, in the words of Dr. William T. Parker, pastor of the First Baptist Church, "their desire to promote Christian fellowship."

Men's Council Plans Rally. The New Brunswick Presbytery Council of Presbyterian Men will hold its annual Spring Rally and dinner at the Hopewell Presbyterian Church next Wednesday, May 11, at 7 p.m. Over 200 men are expected to attend, representing the 41 churches of the New Brunswick Presbytery. Princeton's Presbyterian churches are included in the Presbytery, and Thomas F. Caldwell of the Witherspoon Church is vice-president.

Brahm's "Requiem" Offered. The 42 voices of the Adult Choir, First Presbyterian Church, will join in presenting the German Requiem of Johannes Brahms next Wednesday, May 11 at 8 p.m. at the church. Mrs. Mary T. Krimmel, faculty member of Westminster Choir College, and Director of Music for the First Church will lead the choir and play the organ accompaniment. Soloists will be Mrs. Virginia Switten, soprano, director of music for Valley Road School and Gordon Loos, baritone.

REGULAR SERVICES

Unitarian. The fourth in a series of sermons on Unitarianism, "Applying to Religion the Will to Think", will be given this Sunday at 11 a.m. by the Rev. Straughan L. Gettier. A discussion period will follow. "Knowing What We Believe" is the theme of the Minister's Seminar at 9:45, and "When Everything Went Black" is the subject of the Sermonette at 10:30. Liberal Religious Youth will meet on Monday at 7 p.m. at the home of Ann White on Quaker Road for further discussion on "Individualism Reconsidered".

Trinity Episcopal. At the 11 a.m. service of morning prayer this Sunday, Dr. John V. Butler will preach the sermon. There will be Holy Communion at 8 a.m. and Family Eucharist at 9:30. Upper church school will meet at 9:30 and the lower school at 11 a.m.

Trinity at Rocky Hill. The Woman's Auxiliary will receive Holy Communion at the 8 a.m. service this Sunday, and will gather after Communion for breakfast. Church School will meet at 10 a.m. Robert B. Hybel will preach the sermon at 11 a.m. service of morning prayer.

Society of Friends. The meeting for worship will be held at 11 a.m. this Sunday at the Meeting House on Quaker Road. Upper First Day School will meet at 10 a.m. and the lower school — Continued on Page 11

"No Look-Alike" Law Proposed. An unusual ordinance which will have far-reaching effect on the growth of Lawrence Township will be up for hearing and final passage by the Township Committee's May 18 meeting. The measure is one that forbids construction of homes of basically identical design within closely adjacent areas.

The proposed ordinance is similar in all respects to the one passed by Princeton Township last fall. The action here was taken at a special Saturday meeting of the Township Committee.

The new net is planned to prevent developer construction of houses of like design in large numbers. Princeton Township was understood to be the second community in the nation to pass the measure, which was first enacted in Scarsdale, N. Y. At the time it was passed in Princeton, builders in New Jersey indicated they might challenge its legality, chiefly because of the effect it could ultimately have on mass housing throughout the state. Lawrence Township Attorney Francis Strapp told Town Topics, "the aim is to conserve property values in the neighborhood in conjunction with the welfare of the community." According to Mr. Strapp, the desire for bringing up the ordinance grew from all parts of the township as residents saw huge housing developments being erected in other communities. There was a feeling that a major development might soon be planned for Lawrence, he said.

At present, there are no large-scale new developments in Lawrence Township. The proposed ordinance was requested by the Township Committee, drawn up and sent to the planning board, where it was reviewed and recommended for adoption by the governing body.

At the same meeting, the committee also passed an ordinance of stray dogs, giving an ordinance on first reading for putting stray dogs in a pound. The owner is given seven days to recover the animal.

Clean-Up This Saturday. Lawrenceville and the entire northern section of the Township are the targets of this Saturday's annual Clean-Up Drive. Trucks will tour the area from Little Side Drive, which is designed both to Princeton Township Line from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M.

Lawrenceville, the Longacre Tract, Rosedale, Bakers Basin, Clarksville and Lawrence Station will be included in Saturday's drive, which is designed to both clean-up and to remove safety and fire hazards. Charles F. Hirsch and John L. Phikill, co-chairmen, have urged that everyone clean out cellars, yards, attics and other areas, placing trash along the street where it can be picked up.

Unusually large collections should be reported to the Municipal Building (EX-Port 3-7049) and special pick-up arrangements will be made. The drive in the southern and central portions of the township will be conducted May 14 and 21, respectively.

Country Style Auction. Antique furniture, glassware, bric-a-brac, records, books, linens, and chubbery will be featured at a "country-style auction" next Saturday, May 14, in the Youth Center of the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church.

The auction begins at 9:30 in the morning. The wide variety of items collected for sale are being donated by friends of the church, while luncheon refreshments will be offered by the church's Women's Association.

Pack 27 to Meet. An exhibit of work completed in the Dens during the past year will be featured at a meeting of Lawrenceville Cub Scout Pack No. 27 this Friday. Parents and friends are invited to attend at the Presbyterian Church Youth Center, starting at 7:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded for exhibits and for the sale of tickets to the recent Scout Exposition.

Dr. H. Yale Tyler, Cubmaster, will be in charge. Newsletter. Hugh K. Wright Jr., whose parents live in Woodhull House, is among the 47 recipients this year of a Rockefeller Brothers Theological Fellowship, a one-year award for theological study. . . . he is a senior at Wesleyan University, where he is editor of the literary magazine, a senator in student government, active in dramatics, co-chairman of the assembly committee, and a member of the tennis team. . . . News of "And Away He Run," the Perc Club musical on view at the McCarter in Princeton this Thursday and Friday will be found in "News of the Theatres."

The Township's Democratic Club has installed the following new officers: Walter A. Schoeller, secretary; Peter J. Russo, president; James H. Smith, secretary; Frederick Byrnes, assistant secretary; Mrs. Anne Majeski, treasurer; Anthony Panzica, sergeant-at-arms, and Vincent Terranova, trustee. Owen R. Hendon and Mrs. Nellie R. Hendon were co-chairmen for the event.

pleting the project last weekend were Adam Hochschild, Dickon Baker, Vincent Wickward and Robert Rowe.

Carroll C. Haulenbeck of 100 Nassau Street was injured last week when he lost control of his car turning from Spring Street into Vandewater Avenue. The car crossed the curb and damaged the line and the house of Mrs. E. Mulford Updike at 25 Vandewater. Police said that Mr. Haulenbeck had suffered a heart attack. Members of the Wyckoff Club will hold their monthly meeting Monday, May 16, at 8:15 p.m. in the lounge of the Engineering Building on Washington Road. Mrs. Florence Hillier of the Flower Basket will speak on flower arrangements.

The Lions Auxiliary will meet for dinner Monday at 7 at the Franklin Park Grill. Joseph J. Stemmle, First Aid chairman of the Red Cross chapter, will be the speaker.

Dr. Jeanette Munro, Dr. S. Robert Lewis and Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman have announced the removal of their pediatric office to the Mednet Arts Buildings at Princeton Hospital. The telephone numbers are 1636 and 5510.

Miss Grace V. Whiteman and Miss Dorothy E. Whiteman of 47 Park Place won a mink collar and a shellfish carving set, respectively, for completing 25-word statements in contests conducted by the Halo Shampoo and Cosmetics companies. (For news of another similar contest, see page 5.)

THEATRE INTIME

William Congreve's comedy "Love for Love" is now on view at Murray Theatre on the University Campus. The Theatre Intime production continues nightly (except Sunday) through Saturday, May 14. Tickets are on sale at the University Store (Tel. 3333) and at the box office nightly. (tel. 3539.)

Starring in the Restoration classic are Carlotta Sherwood as (Angelica), Mary Gonzales (Mrs. Frail), Ben D. Piazza (Valentine), Morton Goolde (Sir Sampson), Alexander C. McNally (Foresight), Peggy Schmertz, Martha Raubinger, William Jones, Remak Ramsey, Bruce Rabbino and Ted Duffield.

Settings for the production are by Jerry Raibourn and are designed to utilize the apron stage and portal entrances of the era. Costumes are by Sidney Brinckerhoff, while music and dancing have been directed by Ernestine Brown, a junior at Westminster Choir College. Barton F. Auerbach is the producer.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

The summer season arrives in the area with unusual haste, as the nation's earliest opening strawhat theatre, the picturesque Bucks County Theatre in New Hope, Pa., opens up next Friday, May 13, with "King of Hearts," the Jean Kerr-Eleanor Brooke farce.

Donald Cook will recreate his original Broadway role in the production. Currently a great success in the New York production of "The Champagne Complex" (which premiered at Bucks County last summer), Mr. Cook is known to most theatre-goers for his roles opposite Tallulah Bankhead in "Private Loves" and in "The Moon Is Blue."

Appearing with him also are Kim Hunter, seen here last in "The Tender Trap" and Biff McGuire, who played the young hero in "The Moon Is Blue." Rex Thompson will again play the whimsical child he portrayed in the Broadway run.

"King of Hearts" will run through Saturday, May 21, to be followed by "Reclining Figure" and "Picnic" by William Inge.

Curtain time at Bucks County is nightly at 8:30 (except Sundays), while matinees are at 2 on Saturdays and Wednesdays.

PERIWIG CLUB SHOW

"And Away He Run" is the original plot musical offering of the Lawrenceville School's Periwig Club, being presented at the McCarter this Thursday and Friday evenings.

Kidnapping, Lawrenceville school boys and their problems with girls, acid reporters, thugs, parents and sundry other characters people the stage in the book created by Terry Roche, Tim Noble and Bucky Shear (of Princeton).

The book show departs from the revue format offered by the Periwig Club in recent years.

SIX FROM PRINCETON: A half-dozen Princeton women are in the cast of "Love for Love," the Restoration comedy which the Theatre Intime is currently offering in Murray Theatre. Seated are Mary Gonzales, Remak Ramsey and Martha Raubinger. Those standing are Virginia Reinhart, Peggy Schmertz, Carlotta Sherwood and Sandra Jefferson.

Most of the songs (11 in number) were written by John Humason and Case Morgan of the faculty, along with Guy Gaynes, a senior.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Long Gray Line (May 4-10) tells a sentimental and appealing fashion the lively story of colorful Sgt. Marty Maher, assistant athletic instructor at West Point for a half-century. Director John Ford has poured plenty of richness, humor and detail into the film, aided by fine performances from Tyrone Power, Maureen O'Hara, Robert Frances and many others. Handsome filming in Technicolor and CinemaScope. Here for a week, with special time schedule.

Blackboard Jungle May 11-14) tells a tension-filled story of student hoodlums in a big city vocational school. While not for the squeamish, the film is well-made, neither preaching or searching into causes, as it tells of the struggles of a young teacher with his jungle variety of boys. Strong performances from Glen Ford and Anne Francis as teacher and wife; Louis Calhern and Richard Kiley as faculty members and Sidney Poitier, Vic Morrow and Rafael Campos as three of the students.

THE GARDEN

Animal Farm (May 5-7) presents George Orwell's biting satire of life on a totalitarian farm in daring but necessary cartoon form. The Louis de Rochemont production is adult in theme, well made, and aided by fine British animation, and Technicolor. Not a cartoon for small children. Playing with it is the documentary "The Royal Tour of Queen Elizabeth and Philip." First evening show at 6:45.

The Detective (May 9-11), finds Alec Guinness creating another in his gallery of characters. While not absolutely top Guinness, film is more than occasionally funny. It's an amateur detective mystery, based on G. K. Chesterton's popular "Father Brown" stories. Others in the cast include Joan Greenwood, Cecil Parker and Peter Finch.

Drum Beat (May 12-14) has action and scenery in CinemaScope and color to dress up a routine Western of the renegade Indian won't give in variety. Alan Ladd plays a peace commissioner, and Audrey Dalton and Marisa Paven lend femininity to the scene.

FILM CLASSIC SERIES

The famous melodrama "The 39 Steps" is next in the annual spring series of film classics sponsored by Group Arts. Showings will be at 7 and 9 in McCosh Hall 50 on the University Campus.

"The 39 Steps" proved a foundation of director Alfred Hitchcock's reputation as a master hand in mystery dramas and thrillers. Tickets for the showings here may be obtained at the door.

VALLEY ROAD SCHOOL

Many weeks of work by students under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Switten, has produced the current version of the Gilbert and Sullivan favorite, "The Mikado," being offered Thursday at 3:15 and Friday at 8 in the auditorium of Valley Road School. Proceeds from tickets will go towards a new school piano.

Nancy Dyer, Philip North, Roger Nicoll, Nancy Dinsmore, Robert Rugg and Roy Norton have leading roles in the production, backed by the large singing chorus from the top four grades. The school orchestra will play an overture during intermission.

A version of "Cinderella" will be presented by the Princeton Ballet Society in two performances, one at 3:30 Friday, May 27, and one Saturday, May 28, at 8:15. Both performances will be in McCarter Theatre.

More than 150 Princeton children are now in rehearsal for the production, under the direction of Mrs. Andree Estey.

The May 27 performance replaces the May 20 date in the Borough Elementary Schools PTA children's entertainment series. Tickets printed for the earlier date will be used, however. Single tickets may be ordered by writing Children's Entertainments, 80 Murray Place, Princeton, or by telephoning 2090-J.

"Morven" Gets Green Light. A recommendation designating Morven, historic Princeton homestead, as a permanent residence for New Jersey Governors has been submitted jointly to Governor Meyner and the Legislature. The committee of private citizens appointed to study possible uses of the home, presented to the State by former Governor Walter Edge, also urged that the house be rehabilitated for long-term use as an executive residence.

With its recommendation, the committee emphasized the fact that New Jersey needs a Governor's residence. It is one of 12 states which do not provide such facilities. The committee suggested that Morven is very well adapted to the requirements of a home for a chief executive.

It is sufficiently "removed from the pressures of the capitol, where citizens, legislators, and distinguished visitors can be met or entertained on official or social occasions." In addition, "its interior and room arrangements—with some minor modifications—are most suitable for a private residence as well as for official duties." The committee also noted Morven's five acres of lawns and gardens and its proximity to the State House in Trenton.

The group presented an itemized statement estimating the costs of rehabilitation at $172,665 and stated that "the com-

Music in Princeton

MCCARTER THEATRE

Distinctive Opera. Without a doubt, the crowning achievement of the series of concerts given by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra was its production in McCarter last weekend of Monteverdi's "Combattimento Di Tancredi e Clorinda" and the east coast premiere of "The Trial of Lucullus" by Roger Sessions. The concert version of Monteverdi's opera was rendered with fine musicianship by Rachel Armstrong, Martha Long and Fadori Shehadi under the masterful direction of Nicholas Harsanyi. This short opera served as a curtain raiser to Mr. Sessions fully-dramatized opera.

The libretto of "The Trial of Lucullus," by Bertold Brecht, was set by Mr. Sessions in Berkeley, California, in 1947, the year of its first performance. Mr. Sessions has waited eight years for the second performance of his opera — far too long a time for the most distinctive one-act opera that has yet been written by an American composer. From the opening trumpet call to the final A Major triad held by the trumpets, the listeners were rapt in the spell of music of great power, dignity and beauty; music that was performed and received with genuine ardor.

Mr. Brecht's libretto is not the easiest material to work with, for it is an expressionistic pageant-play. Therefore, like "Prometheus," it is dramatically static and, like Mollath's "Lilith" and Mader's "Fall of the City," it operates on juxtaposed levels of reality and unreality and uses devices of concealed and exposed narrative voices. In short, the libretto is a very tricky bit of material with which to deal. Mr. Sessions handles the situation by deftly painting mood and portraying character.

The public's mood of astonishment and anxiety over the death of a famous warrior is conveyed immediately with the first few bars of the introduction. The atmosphere of the funeral procession is equally well transmitted in the proclamations of the Herald and the underlying music in the orchestra. How skillfully Mr. Sessions snaps out of the sombre funeral mood into the derisive, devil-may-care attitude of the soldiers who are glad to be through bearing the catalogue of Lucullus!

All one has to do is listen to the strident punctuations in the orchestra and the sharp, forceful musical lines of Lucullus to feel his haughty and arrogant character. And one senses the eerie commanding authority of the Hollow Voice by the music accompanying its first startling entrance in scene IV.

Mr. Sessions painted the anguish felt by the Fisherman's wife in scene X with touching beauty. The kitchen-ponp music of the fat cook's testimony was ruminatively right, and the grave music preceding scene VI and the music underlying the cherry-tree episode and the final chorus of hope in the future were not only appropriately related to the libretto in mood and character but was deeply moving in itself.

The cast as a whole was good. Exceptional performances were given by Janice Harsanyi, James Deloit, Robert Simpson, Lois Laverty, Paul Oneley and Marvin Burke.

What Other Critics Said

Writing in the New York Herald Tribune, Jay S. Harrison said in a favorable review:

As the plot suggests, "The Trial of Lucullus" is not really an opera—its subject matter is stale and its climactic moment few. It is, in fact, rather like a secular cantata, and it is to the credit of Mr. Sessions' vision that he has thus chosen to treat it. The technical methods employed by Mr. Sessions are the very same that have long since attached a special aura of greatness to his name. The work is steeped in a dissonant of high saturation, though it is quite impossible to tick off the drama's substance with the convenient terms of contemporary musical terminology, and the scoring, in its ever Mr. Sessions' way, is of a clarity and economy uninvited.

There is, however, one point about which reservations must be made, and even here the performance itself may be at fault. Throughout, Mr. Sessions seems overly dedicated to what I should type the "baroque" style. The declamation is granitic, unyielding and desiccated, even at tender melting episodes, to the company's and the audience's. The costumes were grand and decorative, the music was grand and disciplined. And the work bears the thumbprints of a master.

Howard Tashman, in the New York Times, found the work a trial and the production a success:

Roger Sessions is a serious man of music, and his one-act opera, "The Trial of Lucullus," is a serious work... it is difficult to see how the work could be done more impressively than it was done in the Eastern premiere here, except by a front-rank professional theatre.

Here certainly is a timely subject, but neither the librettist nor the composer have made the most of its possibilities. The text is poetic, but it has made little but an animated oratorio out of the piece, and not very animated at that.

His thorny musical style is another handicap. Never an easy composer to listen to, Mr. Sessions writes instrumental works that have a kind of granitic, personal style that one must respect. Such a style, however, does not work in opera, at the final choral passage has an austere beauty. But the work as a whole, for all its thoughtful purpose, is debased by Mr. Sessions' anguishing style.

Compassionately of Tancréd C. Clouidine, and ends with a difficult contemporary opera is quite an achievement. The community has cause for pride.

Nicholas Harsanyi was as superb as he was indispensable. Hugh Hordy's set was imaginatively conceived.

Kurt Gaff's stage direction was quite competent, but it did not completely succeed in overcoming the directorial problems inherent in the book. For instance the dissolution of the crowd scenes were clumsy; the transitions from natural to supernatural levels was not clear; significant lines were lost because they were placed too far backstage, etc. The directorial problem was, obviously a tough nut; it was not completely cracked.

The people of Princeton offer thanks to Messrs. Sessions, Harsanyi and to everyone concerned with this concert for bringing them the honor of such a memorable, so unforgettable event in their musical life.

The Houseparties Concert presented annually by the Princeton University Glee Club is scheduled for this Friday evening at 8:30 p.m. in Alexander Hall on the University Campus. Tickets are on sale at the University Store.

The glee club will perform under the direction of Dr. Carl Weinrich. The program will be that presented on the organization's annual spring vacation tour of the South.

Selections will include parts of "The Beggar's Opera," "Lighthearted in Tairis" by Cluck, Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience," a Bach chorale, a Handel motet, Holst's "Turn Back, O Man," Schubert's "Widerrspruch," folk songs and spirituals, including "The Foggy Dew" and Marshall Bartholomew's arrangement of "Shenandoah."

Short Notes: Four Princeton girls will take part in a harp recital next Friday evening at 8 p.m. in the Parish House of the First Presbyterian Church in Cranbury. The girls are pupils of Mrs. Kathryn Wright of Cranbury. Cicely Tomlinson, Susan E. Fowler and Janet Ramsey of Princeton, Susan Barclay and Sally Brannin of Cranbury will perform on the harp, while Eleanor Smith of Princeton will play the flute and Lillian Conley of Cranbury will sing.

Mrs. Linda Skotbeck of Princeton R.D. 1 was in charge of the program for the annual spring recital of Orchestra, the modern dance group at Douglas College.

The Alpha Theta Alumnae Society of Rider College, whose Princeton members are Miss Joan Petrozini, Miss Peggy Carnevale, Mrs. Dorbin Avery and Mrs. Margaret Appleby, is among the groups sponsoring the 19th annual spring concert of the Bel Canto Choir.

The program under the direction of Mrs. Helen Krans-Nehring ranges from songs by Schubert to popular selections. Tickets for the concert at the Trenton War Memorial building may be obtained by calling 1836-M.

The Winners. More than 2,000 shots (2,180, to be specific) were taken in the second annual hole-in-one contest last weekend, the 479 contestants demonstrating sufficient accuracy so that a ball had to come within ten feet of the cup to win one of the 50 prizes. No one qualified for the $150-in cash that was awaiting any shot that holed out, but the best effort was extremely close.

It was credited to Lawrence C. Ward, Jr., who came within 3 1/4 inches of the cup on the specially-built green below the Springdale golf course. Mr. Ward won the $150 merchandise certificate offered by L. Bamberger & Co.

Action began Saturday morning and continued under floodlights that night. It resumed Sunday, picking up when the skies cleared at noon, with the greatest attendance on hand in the final hours. (For pictures of three who competed, see the next page.)

Runner-up in the contest was Dr. Elwood Godfrey, whose shot just 11 inches from the hole won him the three-speed phonograph-radio contributed by RCA Laboratories. J. Taylor Woodward won the luggage rack and tarpaulin from Conover Ford with a shot 1 foot, 4 1/2 inches out, while Luttmann's wardrobe hand trunk went to Township Mayor John H. Wallace, Jr. with an entry that stopped a foot and a half away.

Others who finished in the first ten, the prizes they won and the distance from the cup were: Gerald C. Lauck, Jr., two white-wall tires from Conover Mercury, 1 foot, 11 inches; Robert Mueller, case of Scotch from Cousins Co., 2 feet, 2 inches; Gould Jones, double bed electric blanket from Redding's, 2 feet, 11 inches; William Pettit, case of bourbon from Wine & Game Shop, 3 feet, 7 1/4 inches; Christopher R. P. Rodgers, Elizabeth Arden permanent, cutting and conditioning from Artistic Hairdressers, 3 feet, 8 inches; Mrs. Tallman Bissell, 6x9-foot rug from the Hightstown Rug Co., 3 feet, 8 inches.

The rest of the list:

Harrison Fraker, 500 gallons of oil or $50 from Nassau Oil Co., 4 feet; Alexander Edwards, 500 gallons of oil or $50 from Princeton Fuel Oil Co., 4 feet, 4 1/4 inches; Kenneth Dawes, $50 certificate from Langrock's, 4 feet, 5 inches; Robert Shaw, $50 in cosmetics at Thorne's Drug Store, 4 feet, 5 1/2 inches; Mrs. Crawford Madiera, venetian blinds for one room from The Molltone, 4 feet, 8 1/2 inches; Mrs. David Miller, sport coat from MacDaid's, 4 feet, 11 inches.

TRIO OF CONTESTANTS: Among the nearly 500 entrants in the hole-in-one contest last weekend were these residents of the Princeton area. At the left is Marshal M. H. Dana of Kingston, a member of the Kingston Volunteer Fire Company, who wore his uniform to aid in policing the car-parking area. In the center is Mrs. Harold W. Dodds, wife of Princeton University's President (whose best shot was only a foot farther away from the hole than her husband's); and Mayor P. MacKay Sturges. The latter was unsuccessful in winning a prize but his township counterpart, Or. John H. Wallace, Jr., was one of the top contestants. (See page 21.) Richards Photos.

Record Breakers

For the first time in 29 years, the fourth grade at the Nassau Street Elementary School won the intramural basketball title. Irwin Weiss, Director of Physical Education, has announced that school letters have been awarded to these members of the team which defeated the fifth grade champions:

Captain Mary Graham, Carol Beth Evan, Susan Rose, Rachel Chafey, Sandra Thiel, Pamela Sidford, Heather Sommers and Mardi Coyle. Letters were presented to members of the winning intramural and school teams from the Nassau Street and Witherspoon Schools by Captain Harold "Bud" Haabestad and Captain-elect John DeVoe of the University basketball team.

The varsity crew has a week off to prepare for the Eastern Spring Championships, set for the Potomac River at Washington next weekend. The 150-lb. crew (which last week broke the Carnegie course record for the Henley distance) will race Pennsylvania on the Schuylkill at Philadelphia.

The unbeaten (7-0) golf team faces its toughest rival of the season in tackling Yale at New Haven. Harry Kinnell's squad polished off Lehigh and Georgetown, 6-1 and 5-2 last week, and may have the depth to trim the Elis on their own course. The tennis team also finished the month of April unbeaten, trouncing Navy, 7-2, last Saturday.

League Games Ahead. Three games in five days—Columbia will be here Wednesday at 4 for another league contest—will determine whether the ball team is first division material in this year's race. If the Tigers win them all, the clash with Yale at New Haven next Saturday, May 14, will virtually determine the 1955 champion.

Harvard and Yale are both unbeaten, each having defeated their first three opponents. The Crimson plays Penn at Philadelphia on Friday but will very probably save its ace hurler, senior Andy Ward, for Princeton.

Eddie Donovan will have his three top hurlers, southpaw Jim Gibson and righthanders Leigh Ford and Dick Emery, ready for the weekend contests. Gibson and Ford are the probable starters, but four good innings against Rutgers last week indicate that Emery may have regained the touch he had when he compiled a 9-2 mark as a sophomore.

The Tigers now have a highly creditable five-game winning streak, while they rank fourth in the league (behind Harvard, Yale and Brown, the latter 4-1). Last week was marked by an uphill 5-4 triumph over Rutgers in 13 innings on University Field and a 6-3 victory over Dartmouth at Hanover that set the league record at 2-1.

Ford pitched the first nine innings against Rutgers, and was the victim of three errors, each of which accounted for a run. The Tigers were trailing by a 4-2 margin when Emery went in to pinch hit for him in the last of the ninth.

Dick dropped a single over second, reached third on successive infield outs and scored when Pete Millard laced a double inches off the foul line in right. George Case, formerly of the Washington Senators and Cleveland Indians, disdained the wise move and let Joe Feldman pitch to John Easton with first base open. Easton's sharp slap to center scored Millard and after four shutout innings by Emery, during which he struck out five, the Orange and Black won in the 13th.

Royce Flippin led off with a walk. Gordie Gray's good bunt was untouched while Rutgers' first baseman waited for it to roll

Brother Act

Three sets of brothers—all of whose fathers went to Princeton—are rowing in the Nassau "navy" this spring.

Hamilton Robinson is captain of the varsity, and his brother Dave, who captained last year's freshmen, pulls an oar right next to him. Dave is the stroke, with Ham rowing at number seven.

Bart and Mike Strang are in the jayvees, as is George Kunkel. The latter's brother, Lewis, is in the first freshman boat.

foul. It never did, and Millard's sacrifice advanced both runners. Easton was passed this time, but Bill Agnew's booming fly to right gave Flippin all the time he needed to bring in the winning run.

The Tigers clipped four Rutgers hurlers for 15 hits, Feldman going 12 and Case bringing in three more in an effort to stop the rally in the 13th. Easton got three in six at bats, while Flippin, Gray and Emery were credited with two apiece.

Three errors in the first two innings at Hanover gave Dartmouth three unearned runs, but Jim Gibson weathered that shaky support to hang up another fine triumph. Once again, his control was outstanding as he walked only one and did not allow a runner beyond second in the last seven innings.

The Tigers got the three runs back by the fifth and in the next round broke the game open in typical Donovan fashion—bunting the opposition into submission. Easton opened with a double to right center and Agnew's intended sacrifice was good enough so that he beat it out, Easton going to third.

Princeton, with a baseball-lacrosse doubleheader and the Yale-Princeton track meet the features of the program. Action will start Friday afternoon at 4 on University Field with an Eastern League game between Army and Princeton. The tennis team will also play at that time, taking on invariably strong North Carolina on the Church Courts near Palmer Stadium.

Saturday's twin bill at University Field will begin at 1 o'clock when Harvard's ball team, unbeaten in league play, engages Eddie Donovan's outfit in a contest that will go far to determine the outcome of the race. Navy, 1954 national lacrosse champion but beaten last week by Maryland in the game that just about clinched this year's title for the Terrapins, will be here for a game on University Field at 4.

The track meet begins at 1:30, but the first running event is set for 2:30 in Palmer Stadium. It will be a dual affair, with the freshmen of both universities also competing. Harvard's tennis team will provide opposition for John Conroy's unbeaten squad on the Church Courts at 2:30.

Hank Thomay's good squeeze hunt not only brought Easton in, but when the throw to the plate was late, Thomay reached first safely. He and Agnew then executed a double steal and Jim Perkins' hunt was good for the "double squeeze." Agnew crossing the plate as the ball was laid down and Thomay, running on the pitch, coming all the way from second when Perkins was being retired at first.

Gray's three for five paced the Princetonians, who got nine hits in all. Flippin's triple in the fifth that was good for two runs was the longest blow of the game.

Record Snapped. Smooth water and a good tail wind helped the 150-lb. crew carve six and a half seconds off the mile and 5/16 record as it trimmed Cornell by better than a half-length and M.I.T. by nearly three last Saturday. The Tigers had to come from behind as they trailed by a deck length with a quarter-mile to go, but their stretch drive was more than enough. They wore clock in a time 6:34, breaking the mark of 6:30 set two years ago by the Princeton 'dicks.

The varsity had trouble at Cambridge, losing to Wisconsin and Harvard by two lengths in the Compton Cup regatta. The heavyweight crew has not won in two years now, since its last victory was in this race in 1953.

PHS Drops Second. A high throw to the plate in the last of the ninth lining by first baseman Lee Ammerman permitted Hamilton's winning run to score and gave Princeton High its second loss of the baseball season last Wednesday. The Hornets defeated the Little Tigers, 13-12. A 10-run surge in their half of the second stanza gave the Hornets a commanding 11-1 lead early in the game. The Little Tigers managed to come from behind, however, and pick up enough runs along the way to tie the score by the final round.

With one out in the bottom of the ninth, Hornet center fielder Earl Cottrell drew a walk, stole second and moved to third on a grounder to the shortstop. Shortstop Bob Montgomery held Cottrell at third, but his last-minute throw to first was low and Mar-ty Spain was safe on the error. The next batter, right fielder Jack Chisner, grounded to Ammerman at first, but the Tiger first sacker's throw to the plate was high and Cottrell scored the tie-breaking run.

ated in the Penn Relays last. After the mid-week game with Trenton High, the Little Tigers journey to Long Branch for a contest Friday. Princeton's initial home game will be with Long Branch May 13.

Track Team on Road. Princeton High's track squad will face Lawrenceville Saturday as the highlight of PHS's field weekend. After a mid-week meet with Long Branch here Tuesday, the team will journey to Lawrenceville for the contest.

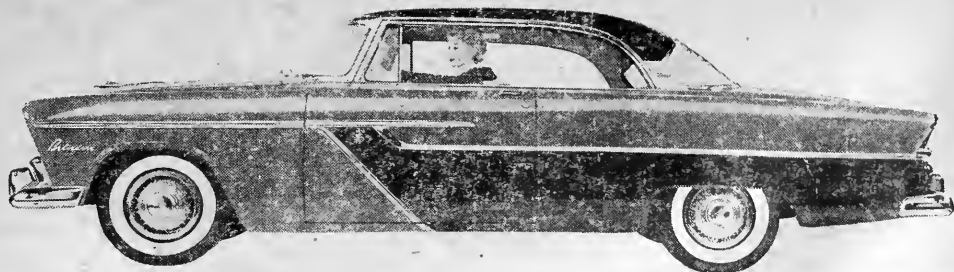

The PHS varsity extended its 8-year undefeated record to 50 dual meet victories last week when the Little Tigers defeated Hamilton by the one-sided score of 102-13. Princeton's one-mile and two-mile relay teams, en-weekend, failed to finish in the top four places.

mittee is unanimously of the opinion that a Governor's residence should be provided at public expense." If New Jersey were to start from the beginning and construct a comparable residence, according to the group, the anticipated capital cost would be $300,000 plus an additional sum for furnishing and improvements.

In recommending rehabilitation, the committee proposed several architectural changes that it considers essential if the house is to be used as an executive residence. None of these would affect the basic plan or appearance of the building. The recommendation included complete plans for placing the building in the best possible physical condition and installing new heating, plumbing, electrical and air conditioning facilities. These proposals were formulated with the advice and assistance of Edgar I. Williams of Rutherford, well known architect.

The estimates of $172,000 cover only the cost of rehabilitating the house. The report called attention to such other needs as landscaping, furnishings, and maintenance equipment without attempting to set price tags on them. It is estimated that the annual costs of operating Morven as an executive residence may be $25,000.

The committee took cognizance of previous lower estimates for renovating the historical home but emphasized that while it was not questioning the competence of previous estimates, "its own estimates are in no way comparable (to those of Commissioner Erdman) because they are based on an entirely different program of rehabilitation." Previous estimates, it was pointed out, contemplated no architectural changes and were not based upon detailed plans of the kind that Mr. Williams prepared for the committee.

Morven was built in 1701 by Richard Stockton and was one of the first houses of Georgian design to appear in the colonies. The title to the property remained in the Stockton family until 1945 when it was acquired by former Governor Edge. In deeding it to the state, Governor Edge stipulated that Morven be used either as a museum or an executive residence.

The committee has investigated the aspects of using Morven as a museum or both as a museum and Governor's residence but rejected these two alternatives as, either too expensive or impairing official and private aspects if free access were allowed.

The group thus recommended that the house "be considered primarily as a Governor's residence; and that beyond this, any access of a public nature (as the 1954 legislature suggested) be at the discretion of the Governor in residence." The committee was appointed in January by Governor Meyner. Residents of Princeton serving on it are Mrs. George Gallup and Professor John F. Sly.

Simple Arithmetic

When the bell in Nassau Hall cracked last winter after nearly a century of service it was reported to have rung more times than any other in the world. The source for this estimate proves to be Prof. Arthur Bigelow, University Bellmaster.

When the statement was questioned by a reader of the Alumni Weekly, Prof. Bigelow asserted that the bell had been heard approximately 35,000,000 times since it was installed in 1857. He bases his figure on 257,550 strokes annually for class changes; 15,470 for curfew; 13,740 for chapel and 56,784 to strike the hours.

Added to this are a mere 1,890,000 peals signifying athletic victories won by sons of Nassau. This figure alone, Professor Bigelow agrees, is a bit difficult to substantiate but the bell remains second to none in his opinion as the most heavily used in the world.

Soroptimists Aid Polio Fund. Over $12,000 has been given to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis by the Soroptimist International of Princeton. The money, representing the proceeds from the 1955 Princeton March of Dimes campaign, was presented by Mrs. Florence Rockwell, president of the Princeton club.

Those who attended the luncheon at which the funds were presented include Crawford Jamieson, Mercer County Chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis; William Kafes, executive secretary of the National Foundation, and Joseph Catelli of Princeton, who acted as March of Dimes treasurer for the Soroptimist Club. Mrs. Cecilie O. Jones and Mrs. Edna Warren were co-chairmen of the 1955 drive.

P.T.A. Officers Elected. Mrs. Arthur R. Wengel was elected honorary president of the Princeton High School Parent-Teacher Association at the annual meeting held last week.

Others elected were Mrs. Albert Van Zandt, honorary vice-president; Mrs. Julian Boyd, first vice-president; Mrs. Joseph Miller, second vice-president; Mrs. Raymond Bowers, recording secretary; Mrs. W.B. Butterworth, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Smyth, treasurer; and Mrs. Leon S. Nergaard, assistant treasurer. Mrs. C. Stanley Green, who was chairman of the nominating committee, was assisted by Mrs. K.P. Wilson and Mrs. George Thomas.

Right now you are riding high, wide and handsome; you've got the world by the tail; you are really living. A few weeks and you will be out—free—on your way. But where? What? How? Why?

Now is the right time to dig yourself the most. To flip your lid—bend your brain to making a decision. Important decision. What do you want to do with yourself?

Let's kick this around for a sec,—with some cool thinking.

In 1950, the Colleges of America graduated 50,000 Engineering students; in 1954 they graduated 19,000. America needs about 35,000 each year.

This need for Engineering graduates offers the high school graduates the great opportunity to prepare for important work. It's greater today than any time in our history due to the unprecedented development and production of things mechanical. We are living in the Machine era and it takes engineers to design, produce and use all the fascinating things America needs.

Take a look at the big Sunday newspapers and count the "Engineers Wanted" ads. Here's proof of that great demand we talk about.

Consider Engineering and consider these four great accredited colleges so close to home: Princeton, Stevens Institute, Rutgers and Newark College of Engineering—a degree from any one is held in high repute in the Engineering profession.

Published in commemoration of the 75 years of effective influence of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

ceeds from its dance last February amounted to $1,250.

This sum has been given to the May Margaret Fine Endowment Fund of Miss Fine's School. It was also announced that Mrs. John H. Wallace, Jr. has been elected chairman of the committee for 1955-56. The next dance will be held Friday, February 3, in Miss Fine's School auditorium.

New School Facilities. The Board of Education of West Windsor Township has approved major improvement plans in school buildings in order to meet anticipated enrollments which, by 1960, will total an increase of 18% over the present student population.

Plans and sketches for a proposed new addition to the West Windsor Elementary School have been prepared by Nicklelight and Mountford, architects. The single story building is to contain ten classrooms, a library, a teachers' room, lavatory facilities, a storage room and a boiler room. The decision to construct additional facilities was reached after two years of careful and extensive study of school building needs.

Under the same action of the board of education, approval was given to modernize and enlarge the cafeteria, toilets and other areas of the Penns Neck School. Approval of the project by voters will be asked by the Board of Education at a date to be determined in the near future.

Financing the new building without exceeding the borrowing capacity of the District is assured, according to the School Board. It will not be necessary to request any extension of borrowing limits by the State Department of Education.

United World Federalists Elect. The annual meeting and election of officers of the United World Federalists was held last week at the Second Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Straughan L. Gettler, pastor of the Unitarian Church, was the speaker. The Rev. Mr. Gettler, who was introduced by Mrs. Joan Arrott, addressed the group on "Personalities: The Basic Unit of a World Society."

Officers re-elected were H. W. Hosington, Jr., president; Howard Feibner, vice-president; Mrs. D. E. Woodbridge, treasurer; and Miss Dorothea deChiara, secretary.

Breakfast Dance. High school seniors will have a breakfast dance on May 29 at the Nassau Tavern, with Bernie Olby's orchestra providing music for dancing and members of the Princeton University Triangle Club presenting intermission entertainment. Mrs. Frederick M. Raubinger and Mrs. James A. Arnold, Jr. have been appointed co-chairmen of the affair.

For another gift, consider the pot pourri from $2.50 in pots or apothecary jars. Or the fine trapezoid work of Eleanor Beard on small pillows, pin cushions, trays, and eye-glass cases.

There are new solid gold charms in the show-case at 67 Madison Street, West. We saw one that was a tiny egg in a fry-lip pan, another that was a solid gold strawberry-ice-cream cone. There is a four-leaf clover, a ferris wheel, and a tiny prayer book with a cross on its cover. No solid gold Cadillac?

Dressy jewelry is baroque in the grand manner. Baroque pieces, those misshapen pieces that owe their charm to their lack of form, are the basic ingredients in several necklaces. Some have gold and colored stones, others feature one particular stone, say an onyx. Many of them are gold and pearl and nothing else, the metal wrought with care and skill around the pearl.

On the Oriental tracery of the place mats, use a set consisting of covered pine bowl and plate ($3 a set). The pieces look like fine lacquer, but they are actually top-grade, heat-resistant plastic in a perfect shade of Chinese lacquer red, that soft, deep tomato red, decorated lightly with gold boughs. There are demit tasses in the same shade, but these are genuine lacquer, painted with gold and without decoration.

For a favorite casserole, buy no etched English silver holder, made expandable to fit a casserole of any size. Its silver plate costs $5.50. To keep it hot, but there is a hot plate for $7.99, square, low and practical, for casserole or carafe.

Summer Frock. Pinks, blues and whites for summer fill the shelves at the Betty Wright Shop, 144 Nassau. Playtex offers, for new summer fashions, the High Style bra in white cotton for $2.95. Gabey has cotton bras that are sleeveless and made with the baby steeve that many women prefer. There are solids or small cool prints. A nylon turtlet makes a cloud of a gown with two layers: one blue, one bright rose, or one white one pink. The gown is simple, with deeply pointed bodice in front and back, shoulder straps and a narrow ruffled edging at the armholes. The short version is $8.98, the long is $11.98.

For summer hair-dos, there is a series of combs made with curling bouquets of colorful flowers — all shades of the garden — or clusters of fruit. They are about two inches long for $1, and there is a giant one for seniors who wear very long hair in a "black bun. This one costs $1.99.

On your cotton dress, wear a nylon belt that looks like lace. It's braided, one inch wide, can be washed and will not turn yellow. Lots of other belts in the box: a multi-color one with a natural wood buckle for $1.25 and an expandable straw belt (blue, red, pink, natural, etc.) that stretches to accommodate any waistline.

A pleasant fashion of many years ago comes back this summer: the chiffon dress handkerchief. At The Betty Wright Shop these colorful accessories are silk chiffon, about 18 inches square, in bright red, pink, hick, yellow or blue, edged with two inches of white fabric. They are $2.

In another handkerchief, linen woven in Switzerland combines with French lace to make a classic kerchief of timeless charm. Its price is $2.50. One cotton handkerchief for $1.79 is as large as a man's woven of fine cotton in pure white with a spray of red carnations growing out of one corner.

Schiaparelli, who has a foot in every door, turns up with a wallet and key ring set enclosed in a fancy clear plastic case decorated with "jewels," fruit, or what have you. The wallet itself, seen faintly through the decor on the case, is pink, blue, white, and so forth. A pastel wallet has shells encrusted on its outside—so its owner can shell out, we presume.

scholars to easy on their studies in many fields of cultural endeavor. The number includes seven members of the Princeton community.

Established in 1823 by the late United States Senator from Colorado, Simon Guggenheim, and by Mrs. Guggenheim in memory of a son, John Simon Guggenheim, the fellowships are granted without distinction as to race, color or creed to men and women who have demonstrated high capacity for original scholarly research and artistic creation. Scholars carrying on research in all fields of knowledge and artists engaging in creative activities in all the arts are assisted in their studies by the foundation.

Those in the Princeton area who have received fellowship grants include: Dr. Gerhard Finkhauser, Professor of Biology at Princeton University; Joseph Frank, literary critic; Dr. Eric E. Goldman, Associate Professor of History at Princeton University; Dr. George T. Reynolds, Associate Professor of Physics; Dr. Martin Schwarzschild, Professor of Astronomy; Dr. William O. Strunk, Professor of Music, and Dr. George Flaseck, permanent member of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Cub Scouts Graduate. Cub Scouts in the Webelos Den graduated into the Boy Scouts at the April Pack Meeting of Cub Scout Pack 66, West Windsor Township at the Dutch Neck Firehouse last week. Frank Barlow, Den Chief, welcomed the following boys into the Boy Scouts: Billy Terhune, Grandin Herbert, Gary Mount, Charles Day, John Bensinger, Eric Carpenter and Charles Leck.

Plans were discussed for the next pack meeting, to be held Thursday, May 19, at 7 on the grounds of the Dutch Neck School. It was also decided that the annual Cub Scout Pack 66 picnic will be held Saturday, June 4, Kunkle's Grove, Pennington.

The following awards were presented by the new Commodore Kenneth Smith: Jeffery Everett, wolf badge; Billy Appeltel, wolf badge; Norman Bergstrom, wolf badge; one gold and two silver arrows; Billy Mathis, wolf badge; Barry Appeltel, lion badge; gold arrow; Paul Lashaw, wolf badge; gold arrow; Barry Rittenhouse, bobcat pin; John Schenck, gold arrow; Mike Conover, gold arrow; Alan Day, wolf badge; gold arrow; Jackie Tindall, one year pin; Dennis Smith, second year pin; Earl Peckham, wolf badge.
